

Inglewood High Offers Summer School Classes

Summer school will be held beginning July 6 and continuing through Aug. 27 at the Centinela Valley High School in Inglewood, it is announced by R. K. Lloyd, director of adult education.

Swimming classes will be held at Leuzinger High School, 4118 West Rosecrans boulevard, Lawndale and at Inglewood High School for both boys and girls.

Craft classes for students ten years of age or older will be held in all of the Hawthorne elementary schools, as well as physical education classes in Hawthorne city park.

Students are expected to furnish or pay for materials used in class work and to join the Adult Education Student Body at 25 cents for the summer session. Students living in Torrance, Los Angeles or other school districts are welcome to attend this school. None of these free classes will be given for high school credit.

Many classes will also be given in the evening, such as ceramics, arts and crafts, folk dancing, plastics, shorthand, Spanish woodworking, chorus and lapidary and jewelry making.

Law Rules If Damage $100

An estimated 250,000 California traffic accidents during the next 12 months will fall within provisions of the new Financial Responsibility Law which becomes operative July 1, Motor Vehicles Director A. H. Henderson said today.

"An accident must involve injury, death or damage of more than $100 to the property of any one person to be reportable," said Henderson, "but under present price schedules for automotive repairs it isn't difficult to cause $100 worth of damage."

Last Bay League Forum Held With Turner Presiding

The concluding Bay League Forum of the semester held in Torrance High School library found seven of the eight Bay League schools in attendance.

Purpose of the forum is to promote better understanding and cooperation between the schools and to provide an opportunity for the schools to discuss any problems that arise. The schools take turns in being the host of the forum and in providing the general chairman and agenda.

The Torrance session was opened by Dick Turner, general chairman, and a review of the revised sportsmanship trophy regulations and their application for the 1948 football season was given by Beverly Hills High School. Each school then gave a brief report of its most outstanding and satisfying activity in the field of student government at their school this past year.

Some college students from Torrance are home for summer vacation while others plan to spend the next two months back at their studies.

Halldale Ave., Normont School Facilities Added

Sixteen additional classrooms are to be provided this summer at the Halldale Avenue Elementary School, at a cost of $206,000, officials of the Los Angeles City School district disclosed this week.

The increased facilities will be completed during the summer, according to present plans, in time to be opened for use this fall, not later than October. The school, which serves many families in the Shoestring area whose children now are coming of school age, is located near Carson street and Normandie avenue. Dr. Frank O. Evans, supervisor of educational housing for the school system, said that the schools throughout the city are expanding their facilities at an unprecedented rate, and probably will have to expand even more to provide school rooms for the maturing crop of "war babies."

In Harbor City, nine new classrooms are to be provided at a cost of $75,000 at the Normont Avenue School, 253rd street and Petroleum avenue. By fall, a total of 18 of Los Angeles elementary schools will have either new plants or additions costing up to $218,000 each, three new junior high schools will be built and two high schools will have large additions.

Civil Service Overhaul Due

Complete overhauling of Los Angeles school system's Civil Service procedure has been recommended by a special subcommittee of the Los Angeles City Board of Education.

"An investigation has been in progress about one year as the result of numerous complaints from employees in all classifications, that examinations have been marked with 'irregularities and discrimination,' a spokesman for the employees said.

Hall of Flowers Will Be Feature of State's Fair

The world-wide fame of California flowers and plants will be strikingly emphasized in the Hall of Flowers displays at the California State Fair Sept. 2 through 12, officials said today.

With Gold Discovery and Early California as the theme of the flower show, club, professional and individual growers will combine to create an atmosphere of the grandeur and exotic beauty for which California floriculture is noted.

Adjacent to the Hall of Flowers an island is being constructed on which a replica of Sutter's Mill, at Coloma, will be built to point up the Gold Discovery theme of the first Centennial Year.
